

COVID-19: Survival and Revival

Call-in Forum for Airport Concessions Industry – No. 6

April 29, 2020, 4:00 PM EST

Phone Number 408-418-9388; Access Code 791-700-478 #

About this Session: ARRA Executive Director Rob Wigington will provide an in-depth look at the financial impact of the COVID-19 crisis on airport concessions companies, and what it means for P&Ls and business survival. He will explore the cost of doing business in the real-world airport environment for large and small, and multiple and single location restaurant and retail operators. Insights on how to survive and recover will be presented. A presentation deck will be provided to Call-In participants to review and posted on the www.ARRA-airports.com website in advance of the call.

Two of industry experts will also provide commentary:

Eric Kicherer

Long-term leader representing major retail brands and a seasoned airport real estate consultant with an expertise in development, financial management and marketing.

Kent Vanden Oever

Accomplished industry veteran and consultant with an expertise in business planning, commercial planning and development, financial analysis and forecasting
